Ms. Julia Davis’ 5th grade class had the privilege of attending this year’s Civil Rights Museum’s Student Forum. John Legend, Gloria Steinem, and Hafsat Abiola, were the honorees. Cameron George participated in the student-led question segment and was charged with the task of asking John Legend, “How do you balance your music career with your career as an activist?” Mr. Legend replied to Cameron’s question and thanked him personally. Kudos to Cameron for a job well done in representing Peabody.

Peabody Celebrates Fall

The faculty and staff had fun celebrating fall by showing off their creative costumes. Check out our second grade teachers who came dressed as walking word walls, Mr. Echols dressed in an impressive vampire costume, and Principal Nelson came as a stylish leprechaun. As you can see, our students aren’t the only ones having fun in the building.
